

Techlink Northwest Announces Name Change to Protingent Staffing

Techlink Northwest, a leading technical staffing firm announced that effective immediately they will be doing business as Protingent Staffing. The name change will include all of the company's branch offices.

A veteran of fastest growing company lists such as the Puget Sound Business Journal's Top 100, Entrepreneur's Hot 100 and the INC 500 list; Techlink Northwest has plans underway for continued growth through expansion into nationwide markets.

Donn Harvey, President and founder of the company explains, "Multiple companies with similar names are causing confusion with our clients as we expand into metropolitan areas outside the Pacific Northwest. Also, Protingent Staffing better embodies the company's emphasis on providing technical professionals to clients on a contingent basis".

Tim Bruce, Vice President and co-founder emphasizes, "The ownership and management of Protingent Staffing is not changing. We look at the name change and expansion plans as a means to better serve our client base with a more diverse talent pool and better localized service".
